

Applets and Cotlets

Sweet factory

Applets and Cotlets is only a small factory in Cashmere. Mostly they make sweets, but they also make jam and things like that. As it is a pretty small place, it is easy to find one's way round the place. Next to the factory there is a small shop where you can buy their products but also other items.

It was smaller than I expected. It is just a very small factory. The people in the shop there are very friendly and they like talking to you about the factory.

Opening hours: From sunrise to sunset

Distance from Wenatchee: 11,06 miles

opening hours: April through December: Monday - Friday: 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

I like it because it is small and very straightforward. I was only in the shop because for going into the factory you have to make a reservation. And I think this sight is for people who are interested in apples, sweets and local industries. I only tried their signature candy (the original "Applets and Cotlets" and it is very good. So I think it is OK to pay for it.

My tipp:

You have to make a reservation in time. If you made no reservation, you cannot go into the factory.
