

Icicle Gorge Loop

A wonderful hike along and across the river for children and adults

The Icicle Gorge Loop is a hiking trail for children and adults. It takes about two hours for 4.5 miles. You have to buy a pass. The pass is available at the wooden kiosk at the trailhead.

The trail is in the national forest and has existed since 1596.

First I thought, “oh, okay, a hike”, but it was really cool. You follow paths along the river in the forest and cross it over bridges. All the time, you can see pure nature.

The thing which impressed me most is that it is so quiet, you just hear your own footsteps, the trees and the river. As we were there in the fall, the trees were an awesome green, yellow, orange and red color. I have never seen so many high trees in one place before. Once a mouse crossed my path and a squirrel jumped from tree to tree. You can simply be happy during the hike.

The bridge in the middle of the loop is a magical place to stand, listen and think about how beautiful our world is.

Bottom Line

We were there for two hours on a wonderful sunny Saturday in October.

I loved it, it was one of the things that gave me great memories. I think 5$ is not very expensive for something this great.

My tipp:

When you're there, you have to use the chance to take amazing pictures.
